REFINED DESIGN

Looking at the new 406 Coupé, it is impossible not to admire the beautiful lines that characterise all the best work of the Pininfarina design team. There is the same degree of design flair and attention to detail in the interior. The fascia has been designed like a cockpit to aid safe and easy control of all the car's important functions. The steering wheel and chromed gearknob are trimmed with leather. All models have electric front windows with auto reverse and one touch drivers facility, 'plip' central locking, electrically operated and heated door mirrors and an external temperature indicator – but with electrically folding door mirrors, rain activated windscreen wipers and headlamp wash the 406 Coupé 3.0 litre V6 SE takes ease of control to new heights. An electric sunroof is standard in the 2.0 litre model and an option on the 3.0 litre V6 and 3.0 litre V6 SE, which both feature digital Air Conditioning as standard.

POWER AND CONTROL

An exciting choice of engines – each available with manual or automatic transmission* deliver performance levels to suit your personal driving style. Some will find the responsive performance of the 16-valve, 2.0 litre engine perfectly suited to their motoring requirements. Others will settle for nothing less than the pure power and adrenaline rush of the new 3.0 litre V6 petrol engine, which produces a very impressive 194 bhp, scintillating acceleration and enormous reserves of power to give a top speed of more than twice the legal limit. The latest generation of "Brembo" front brakes on the 3.0 litre models are products of the supreme test of Formula 1 racing and the Multi-link rear suspension automatically adjusts to the prevailing road conditions for safer handling and control.

The new Peugeot 406 Coupé. Put your foot down and settle for nothing less.
