A Red Arrows-style display of 406 Coupés caused much amusement to passing French tourists

THE 406 COUPE CLUB WERE BLESSED WITH A CRACKING DAY FOR THEIR SCOTTISH MEET ON JULY 11, AS TIM COLLINS REVEALS...

PIGS: ALEXANDER RICHARDSON/TIM COLLINS

A local meet of the Peugeot 406 Coupé Club was organised by Alexander Richardson (aka Sandy/Blue406) and took place, in Scotland, under some rarely seen clear blue skies on July 11.

The meet time was set for 11am with 11 Coupés in attendance. The rendezvous point for the day was the Wallace Monument car park just outside Stirling where the spectacular line up of Peugeot 406 Coupés caused quite a stir, dominating the small car park near the entrance.

The Wallace Monument near Stirling was the meeting point

As planned we set off in convoy to the Birds and Bees pub for lunch and formed two neat rows in their car park. Our carefully parked cars provided photogenic interest to a visiting party of French tourists, clearly happy to see some of their native motors.

Outside the pub a lazy bend provided an opportunity to park up as a road train ready to move off with local lad John leading the way with Gordon as a back marker as we headed over to Stirling University. At the University we lined up for an impromptu Red Arrows inspired group shot and then headed home. ■
